WSC President Reports to SCB

Dr. Robert A. DuFresne, WSC president, has submitted his annual report to the State College Board. The report touches upon many of the changes and new developments at Winona State during the past year. Although space will not permit us to reproduce the report in its entirety, we can provide a few highlights. Hopefully, these few random quotes will give you some idea of the college's many and varied programs and services.

"There is obviously a demand for our External Studies Program. Less than three months after beginning the program in Rochester, more than 150 participants were enrolled. At the end of November [1973], 200 had matriculated." [By May 1974, the total enrollment had reached 319.]

"Winona State continues to be proud of its ability to fill its residence halls and thus achieve a 100% initial occupancy rate for the second consecutive year."

"In the 1972-73 class of graduates, 87.5% of the Bachelor of Arts people obtained positions. Among the teaching candidates, 60.5% obtained full-time teaching positions. If one considers other employment alternatives available to such graduates, the figure is increased to 89.6% employed."

"Winona State College alumni account for over half of the people registered for the teacher placement services."

"The Financial Aids office administered over 2,400 loans, scholarships, grants and part-time employment during this past year. The amount of money dispensed in this fashion totals approximately $1,365,000, and this figure does not reflect the money earned by students placed in the local commercial market."

"During the 1973-74 academic year, the [Alumni] society awarded $1,750 in student scholarships and work-study grants and designated $1,950 for the 1974-75 academic year."

"The Alumni Affairs office has updated the file on approximately 11,000 alumni. This file is currently being used for followup studies on graduates to help evaluate our programs."

"The total on-campus and off-campus enrollment for 1973-74 increased .4% over 1972-73, and 10.6% over 1971-72."

"This past year, the department of mathematical science was the Metrication Center for Southeastern Minnesota."

"The English department has been telecasting a course on the Modern Short Story since Winter, 1973."

"Biology staff and students provided the bulk of the biological input for the design and monitoring of Winona's lake reclamation program . . ."

"Our basketball team won the NIC Basketball Conference for the third consecutive year, taking part in the NAIA District #13 playoffs. Our tennis team also won the NIC Conference Tennis meet for the first time in 37 years. Our baseball team and women's basketball and softball teams finished second in tournament action, while our swimming and women's volleyball teams took third place honors."

"We have about 2,000 graduate students considered active at the master's level for all programs with approximately 700 enrolled in course work on-campus and off-campus in a given quarter."

1 + 1 = 3?

An anonymous member of the class of 1921 says we just can't be correct when we say in the spring issue that "of 350 freshmen surveyed, 452 are from Minnesota." With tongue in cheek this anonymous alumnus offers this observation: "You wouldn't receive a 'B average or better [quoting a passage from the story in question] in any math class if your addition is as bad as the numbers reported . . ."

Thank you for correcting us, "anonymous, Class of 1921." To set the record straight, 520, not 350, freshmen were surveyed.

Scholarship Ball Scheduled

The Winona State College Scholarship Ball will be held on Saturday, February 8, 1975 at Kryzsko Commons. Invitations to this annual, formal scholarship benefit affair will be mailed in January 1975. Alumni are encouraged to attend this gala event. Indicate your desire to receive an invitation by returning the insert as soon as possible.

Alumni Society Dinner Scheduled

Keep April 26, 1975 in mind. That's the date the Alumni Society has set for its annual dinner. As we reported in the summer issue, the 1974 dinner was a great success, but the Society hopes to make the next one even better. We'll give you the details in the winter issue, including the time of the dinner and the schedule of activities planned for that day. For now, circle April 26 on your calendar. We'd like to have you join us.

Attention Alumni Society Members

WSC Alumni Society members can receive the college's weekly student newspaper, "The Winonan," free upon request.

As you perhaps know, distribution to society members no longer is automatic. If you want the paper, you must request it. But that's easy enough to do; simply write us or let us know on the insert card in this magazine. We'll do the rest.

If you previously requested "The Winonan" and have been receiving it during the academic year, you needn't renew your request.

Wanted: 1923 Yearbook

Mrs. Mirriam Thorne, '24, would like to obtain a copy of the 1923 yearbook. If anyone has an extra copy please contact her at 1605½ North Ninth Avenue, Virginia, Minnesota 55792 or notify this office and we'll see that she gets it.

Department of Educational Administration

Dr. Kloempken

Dear Alumni:

The problems evident in public and private education suggest that advanced study programs must contribute more directly to the role the individual expects to perform. The needs of teachers and administrators have been a primary concern of Winona State College since its founding. Therefore, new programs in educational administration have been developed to serve the public and parochial school needs.

Winona State has conferred the degree in elementary school administration since 1953; the Master of Science Degree in Secondary School Administration since 1968; and the Specialist Degree in Educational Administration, Elementary, Secondary, and General Administration was offered in 1972. This year the Sixth Year Certification Program in Elementary, Secondary, and General School Administration and a Master of Science Degree as a School Business Officer were developed.

It is hoped that with the concern of its alumni, the college administrators and faculty will be kept abreast of the needs of the elementary and secondary schools. We seek your advice and suggestions.

Respectfully yours,

Dr. Leslie H. Kloempken, Head
Department of Educational Administration

The Advisory Council of the Department of Educational Administration is a group of representatives from educational organizations throughout Minnesota and Wisconsin. The purpose of the council is to help in the development of a Specialist Degree Program to meet the needs of school administrators. Members of the Advisory Council are:

Jerry Williams, President
Secondary Principal, Lewiston, MN

Robert Aarsvold
Superintendent, Chatfield, MN

Lee Eder
Elementary Principal, Osseo, WI

Virgil Green
Elementary Principal, Zumbrota, MN

mentary School's innovative computer managed curriculum to visiting educators. Goodview's program was recently validated as one of the four most innovative in Minnesota.

Alice Soffa, who is currently completing requirements for her Specialist Degree in Educational Administration, is seen here conferring with Dr. Wesley Matson. Dean Matson, adjunct professor of Educational Administration, serves as Mrs. Soffa's advisor.

Don Hansen is shown using the facilities of the Research Bureau to work on his field study, one of the requirements of the Specialist Degree. The Research Bureau, headed by Dr. Everett Walden, is available to students doing research in educational administration.

Small seminar classes give students and instructors an opportunity for informal exchange of ideas and experiences.

Dr. Walden

Mr. Nelson

Dr. Everett Walden, a full-time member of the Department of Educational Administration, teaches the research, supervisor, and simulation courses.

Mr. A. L. Nelson, retired Winona Superintendent of Schools, teaches selective and specialized courses in the Specialist Degree Program in Educational Administration. A well known authority in school finance, he teaches courses such as Minnesota School Finance and School-Community Survey.

Professors who share their expertise in the educational administration programs.

Dr. James Keill

Dr. Otto Frank

Dr. John Lewis

Dr. Archie Beighley

Retired Faculty

Dr. Raymond

Dr. M. R. Raymond retired after 35 years of service to Winona State College. Dr. Raymond received his B.A. degree from Michigan State Normal School, Ypsilanti, Michigan, and his M.A. and Ph.D. degree from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Portions of his certificate for Professor Emeritus of WSC read:

"He served as teacher of Biology and later as chairman of the Science and Mathematics Division for many years, and later served as Vice President and Dean of the College, and was responsible for, and contributed greatly to, the growth and development of Winona State College as an institution of higher learning.

"He initiated and maintained a cordial, cooperative working relationship with the other two colleges of Winona.

"He has served as Admissions Officer for several years."

This past summer he and his wife lived at their lake cottage at Ely, Minnesota and this winter they plan to travel abroad.

Miss Sather

Miss Verlie Sather joined the staff at WSC in 1959 as a fourth grade instructor and supervisor in Phelps Laboratory School. During 1965-66 she took a sabbatical leave to attend the University of Florida, Gainesville. Upon her return she joined the Education Department as an assistant professor.

She received her B.E. degree from Winona State College in 1942 and her M.A. degree from the University of Minnesota in 1952.

Before joining the staff of WSC, 1942-1959, Miss Sather taught primary grades, was an assistant principal and elementary reading consultant for the Winona Public Schools.

Portions of her certificate for Professor Emeritus of WSC read:

"She contributed greatly to the education and welfare of the students attending the Winona State College Laboratory School.

"She has contributed significantly to the education of those Winona State College students who received her supervision while practice teaching.

"She has given long and devoted service to Winona State College and has enriched the lives of a great number of students and faculty who had the fortune to know her."

Mr. Mariner

Mr. Maurice Mariner, Director of Student Housing, ended his 28-year career at Winona State College on August 16. He received his B.A. degree from Baker University, Baldwin City, Kansas, his M.A. degree from Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, and did post graduate work at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Portions of his certificate for Professor Emeritus of WSC read:

"He contributed greatly to the education and welfare of its students.

"He served as Dean of Men, Director of Student Personnel Services, and taught in the Department of Business and Social Sciences from 1947 to 1967. He lived in residence in Prentiss Lodge and Richards Hall for a number of years, and served as Director of Housing until his retirement."

In the words of Dr. John Kane, Dean of Student Affairs, "While other colleges and universities are having trouble keeping their resident halls up to capacity, Winona State has held its own due to the leadership and foresight of Mr. Mariner." His was a very important job, one which no college or university could exist without.

Mr. and Mrs. Mariner plan to participate in the development of a mobile home park at Sequim, Washington. Afterward, they expect to travel, study, and enjoy the ecology and recreational opportunities of the Olympic wilderness.

Nearly every WSC student has passed by the historic mural in the main entrance of Somsen Hall, but many have not really looked at it. Here is your chance to take a closer look and to discover the history and the tragic legend it portrays.

Artist John Socha painted the mural during the depression of the thirties under a Work Progress Administration program started by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to curb unemployment. On one wall Socha painted the legend of Wenonah, a Sioux Indian princess for whom the city of Winona was named. On the other wall he painted Winona's early settlers taming the wilderness and forming a new community. And above the door, where the two sides meet, he shows the frontiersmen and Indians together in peace.

The legend of Wenonah, shown in photo #1, was first recorded in diaries written by Lt. Zebulon Pike, an early explorer of the Winona area. Pike, in 1805, with twenty soldiers, sailed up the Mississippi River from St. Louis to make treaties with the Indians and to select a site for an army fort. According to his diaries, Wenonah, daughter of Chief Wa-pha-sha, fell in love with a young warrior. However, the young man lacked the gift of fine ponies the chief would expect from the man wishing to marry his daughter. So Wenonah loved a man she couldn't marry.

This unhappy situation became tragic when Wenonah's father and brother arranged for her to marry another suitor, the wealthy warrior Tomadoks. While members of the tribe feasted and celebrated what they thought was a happy occasion, the heartbroken Wenonah walked to the edge of a cliff, sang a dirge, and leaped to her death in the Mississippi.

The cliff from which the young maiden took her life is now called Maiden Rock. In the left corner of the mural Wenonah stands upon the rock, ready to leap. In the center she is shown with her mother.

In the upper right-hand corner lumberjacks split logs, signifying the coming of the settlers, the beginning of Winona as a community. Meanwhile missionaries explore the area and preach Christianity to the Indians.

On the opposite wall, shown in photo #2, settling Winona is shown as a story of hard work. Lumberjacks prepare logs which were floated on rafts downriver from logging camps on the St. Croix and Chippewa rivers to Winona's saw mills for cutting. Meanwhile pioneer men and women work their gardens and fields and tend their livestock. Grain elevators indicate the importance of the flour milling industry. And finally we see the importance of the river, as men load steamships with goods to be transported downriver and on to distant markets.

Directly above the door, photo #3, the story of the Indians and that of the settlers come together. Pioneer and Indian lay weapons aside and sit together as two large symbolic hands extend toward one another in friendship and peace.

Dominating the side murals are two large heads symbolizing two important influences on Winona's early history: the Indian chief and the riverboat captain.

Yes, there is more to this mural than first meets the eye. Using stylized figures and muted colors, John Socha has created what many consider one of the finest examples of mural painting from the WPA period. The next time you're on campus, take a closer look.

Satori Looks for Creative Alumni

Satori, the campus literary magazine, invites alumni to contribute poetry, short stories, photography, and artwork for possible publication. Since Satori is a non-profit publication paid for by student funds and has a limited distribution, the staff can promise published contributors nothing more than the modest fame of publication and a free copy, but they would nevertheless like alumni to be a continuing part of the creative scene at Winona State College.

The adjacent poem and drawing are from the Spring, 1974, issue of Satori.

Work for next spring's Satori should be mailed before April 1, 1975 to:

The Retrospectroscope

Have you ever been newly middle-aged and found yourself stooping over a drugstore counter looking for yellow cat's eye marbles or pink-green play dough, mostly because you did it once long ago
and would like to try again?

Ever been newly middle-aged and gone ahead
and bought those yellow cat's eye marbles
and pink-green play dough, only to sit and stare away dreaming of the day when you knew how to play?

Fund Drive Progress

In May, 10,000 letters were mailed to signal the start of the Third Annual Alumni Fund campaign of the Winona State College Alumni Society. By August 15th, 82 persons had given $1,437 with gifts ranging from $1 to $200.

Within these gifts are 20 lifetime memberships. Some people may think this is a pretty slow start for our annual giving campaign. Being an eternal optimist, I feel that once summer vacations have been completed and we return to a more ordered routine, that a greater number of our alumni will find their contribution envelopes and send as big a gift as they can afford.

An interesting thought for those alumni whose sons and daughters graduated from WSC: why not make them a gift of a lifetime membership in the Society? The cost of a lifetime membership in the Alumni Society is only $15. A real bargain.

All-Boys Class, A "Great Success"

In the Spring 1973 ALUM we published an article about the experiment John Petronek, B.S. '65, M.S. '72, was conducting with an all-boys class at Wildwood Elementary School in Mahtomedi, Minnesota. He has sent us a summary of what was learned from the experiment.

He made this statement about the project. "My all-male fifth grade class was a great success from all points of view: student, parent, administrator, and of course, mine." Feelings were gathered through use of a questionnaire sent to the parents. I thought the responses to the following two questions were quite interesting.

1. Based on the benefits your child received would you recommend that the class be continued for another year at Grade Five?

Yes: 88% No: 4% No Comments: 8%

2. Since your child has been in a class without girls this year, what have you noticed about his attitude toward girls?

Better: 32% Poorer: 0% Same: 68%

We send our congratulations to John for the fine work he is doing in the field of elementary education. We encourage alumni to share with us their accomplishments and results of research.

Things We've Heard About You

Classes of 1901-1930

Gertrude E. Nelson Bidwell, Diploma, '04, is retired and living in Bloomington, Wisconsin, in the home where she was born over 95 years ago. She is enjoying her grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Stella Cipra Elliot, Diploma, '05, is living in Seattle, Washington. She taught seven years before marrying and has always been interested in teaching — her great-grandchildren keep her informed of progress in modern methods.

Lela Maxwell Evans, Diploma, '08, is retired and living at Brookside Manor, Montevideo, Minnesota.

Adelaide McBride Shirley, Diploma, '09, who taught for 20 years, lives in Farmington, Minnesota. She has five children (a doctor, two nurses, and two accountants) and has 21 grandchildren.

Mabel Franklin Christilaw, Diploma, '14, received a B.A. in 1920 and a B.S. in Library Science in 1932. Since 1940 she has assisted her father in his flower nursery. The first peony her father originated and marketed in 1920 was named after Mrs. Christilaw. She now has named two new lilacs, not yet in commerce. On June 27, 1974 she was one of the hostesses in the library at the dedication of the new building at the University of Minnesota Arboretum at Chaska, Minnesota.

Clarence Christopherson, Diploma, '22, after spending six winters in California, Mr. and Mrs. Christopherson have moved from St. Paul, Minnesota to a mobile home in the Lawrence Welk's Country Club Village near Escondido, California.

Dorothy Frommes Davis, Diploma, '24, B.E. Education, '34, Elgin Illinois, taught 2 years in Minnesota, 2 years in Virginia, and 18 years in Illinois. She retired in 1969 and is doing volunteer work for the Alpha Delta Kappa sorority. She has traveled extensively throughout the United States, Europe, and Southeast Asia. She received her Masters degree from the University of Chicago.

Agnes May Johnson, Diploma, '24, is at home in Plainview, Minnesota, after teaching at Tracy, Minnesota for 2 years, Magnolia, Minnesota for 1 year, and Plainview, Minnesota for 24 years. She and her husband have one son, Maynard L. Johnson, and three grandchildren. Some of her hobbies are traveling, gardening, visiting old friends, and playing bridge.

Marion Cameron Kuckuk, Diploma, '24, is living in Sun City, Arizona after having lived 41 years in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. She says the Southwest is an exciting place to live.

Wilbur L. "Hub" Beaton, Diploma, '26, has owned and operated Beaton Floor Coverings, Inc., a commercial carpet contractor in Chicago, Illinois since 1934. He has 5 sons, 4 daughters, 8 grandsons, and 2 granddaughters. He is "Still Following The Beaton Path."

Horace E. Frisby, Diploma, '28, the community of Ivanhoe, Minnesota held a "H. E. Frisby Appreciation Day" last spring as Mr. Frisby retired after 46 years of service to the Ivanhoe Community as teacher, coach, and administrator.

Marie Decker Barthelemy, Diploma, '29, taught at Edgerton and Bemidji, Minnesota until 1940. In the last 10 years she has been a substitute teacher in the Bemidji school system. She has six children and five grandchildren.

Eugene Pollard, Diploma, '29, now belongs to the Mustang Boosters Club at Marshall, Minnesota, a group encouraging athletics at Southwest Minnesota State College. He is a State Parole and Probation Agent looking forward to retirement in December.

Florence Mulyck Ryan, Diploma, '29, after teaching the last 19 years in Madison, Wisconsin, retired in July 1973. Mrs. Ryan previously taught in Dresbach, Minnesota; Altura, Minnesota; Fountain City, Wisconsin; and Winona. She noted on her recent visit to Winona, that the site of her former home is now occupied by a WSC building.

Classes of 1931-1960

Lester A. Dolin, Diploma, '33, B.S. Elementary Education, '50, having completed 38 years in education, is presently an Elementary Principal at Bray School, Biwabik, Minnesota. He previously taught English and speech in junior and senior high. He received his Masters degree from Drake University.

Hattie Hostettler Krage, Diploma, '35, B.S. Elementary Education, '65, taught 10 years in rural schools in Winona and Houston County. She is teaching special education to the Trainable Mentally Retarded in Lanesboro, Minnesota. She and her husband have five children.

James J. Davidson, B.E. Science, '40, retired in 1972 as Captain in the U.S. Navy, has started a second career as a Realtor Associate with Lang & Foster Realtors, specializing in country property in Northern Virginia. He enjoys raising and schooling pleasure horses, and the organic growing of fruits and vegetables.

Alona Cooper Rand, Diploma, '40, living in Marshalltown, Iowa, is an Executive Secretary at Lennox Industries. She has two sons, David, who is on staff at Wichita State University, Wichita, Kansas and Wayne, who teaches at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.
